The Students of Color/LGBTQ Mentoring Session Info:

Organizer: Andrea del Carmen Vazquez

This session is a space for graduate students whose identities as people of color/LGBTQ have shaped their experiences in graduate school and an anti-oppressive and socially equitable approach to educational problems. Through group discussions and interactive activities, students will be able to learn about professional opportunities available through CAE and share tools to navigate hierarchical relationships in academia among other particularities to the experience of POC/LGBTQ people in the academy.

Refugees, Immigrants & Humanizing Education Amidst War

Organizers: Jen Stacy and Elena Aydarova

Date/Time: Nov. 11 from 4-6 PM

Location: Piroshki on 3rd 710 3rd Ave, Seattle WA 98104

The Council on Anthropology and Education invites its members, the broader AAA membership and affiliates, and local community members to join us for a Read-In to raise awareness about the current war in Ukraine and the resulting humanitarian crisis, the experiences of refugees and immigrants in the local community, as well as long stemming practices of injustice on local Black, Brown, and Indigenous populations. This community event will deepen understanding about the lived experiences of people within these communities and how formal and informal humanizing practices can support coping, resisting, and finding affirmation and encouragement during trying times. We will come together to share personal stories and excerpts from readings across genres and disciplines. We invite you to consider sharing a personal story or to bring in texts written by immigrants and refugees or texts that capture first-hand accounts of refugee and immigrant perspectives. All are welcome to attend the Read-In as audience members. We highly encourage CAE members to sign up and bring texts to share! To join the list to share a personal story or a reading at the event, please click on this link. We ask that readers register by Thursday, November 10th.
